About The Project

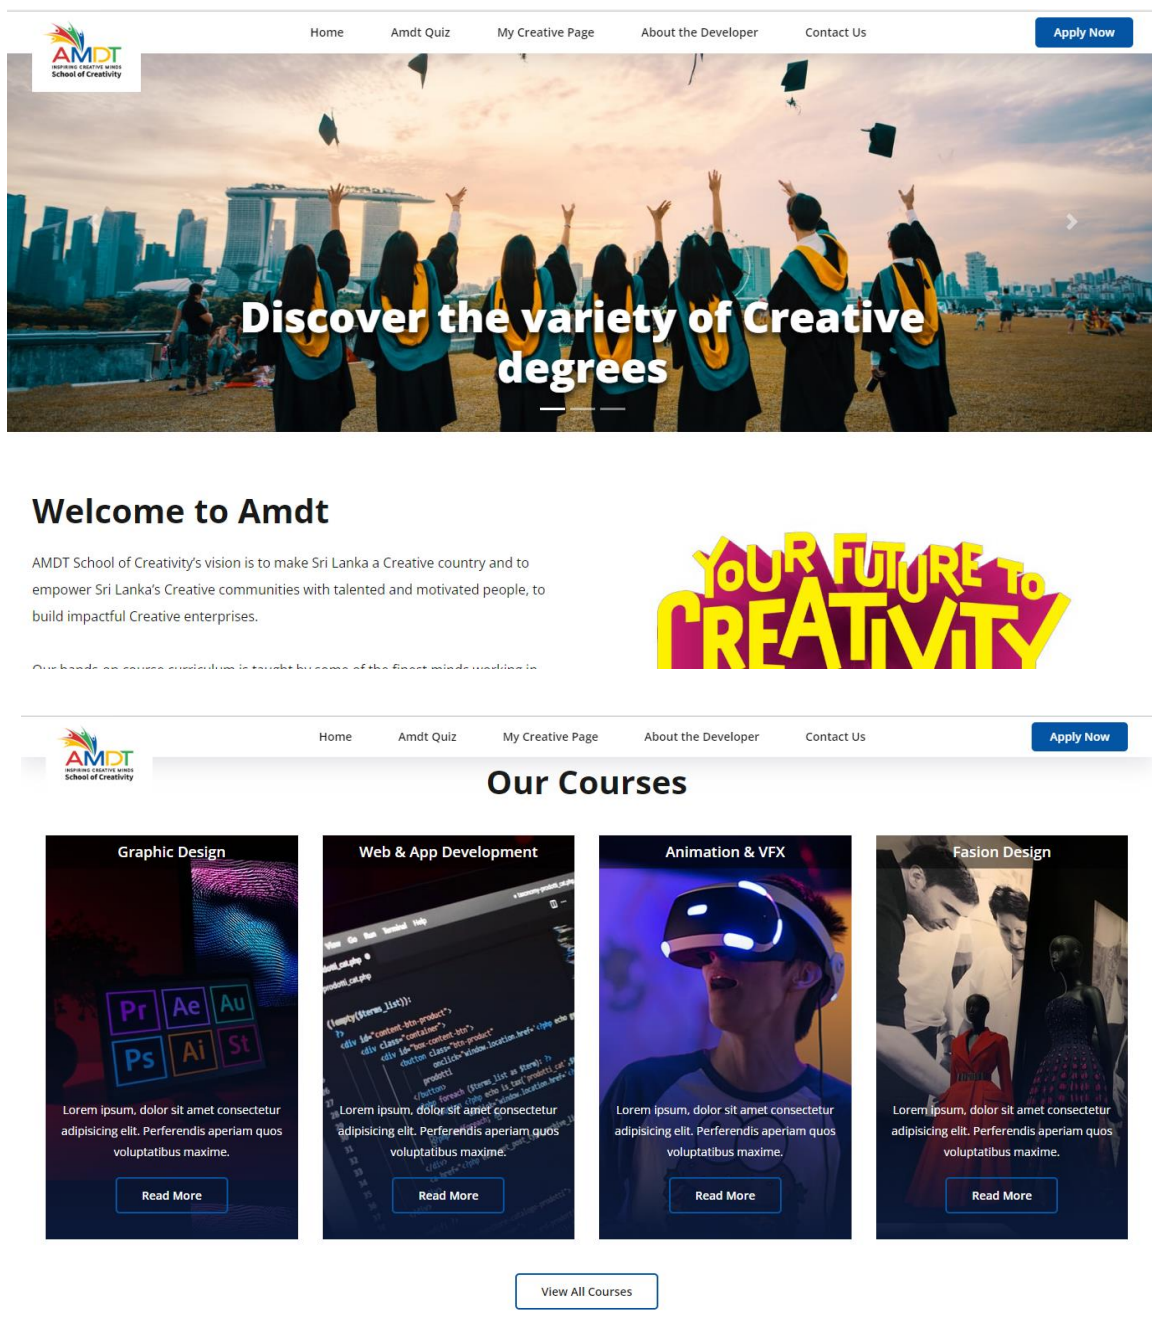

The project is all about revamping the current Amdt website according to client requirements. Amdt is one of the well known creative university in Sri Lanka. I revamped the site using current brand guide lines which included colors and fonts. Amdt new site was developed to showcase more creative part rather than putting a ton of content and completed the all required pages within 3 weeks.

Amdt Quiz

In the quiz section as the client requirement client needs to show simple quiz game about the university and its background. As the requirement, when user get above 12 marks it says "Congratulations" with green color and if they failed to get above 12 it says "Try Harder Next Time" with red color. User will get two points for every success full one answer and will get -2 if it's wrong. Highest mark would be 20 and lowest would be -20.

Usability Testing

I conducted a usability testing with two persons by assuming the client and get their feedbacks about the website and finding issues by giving the specific tasks for them. Below I listed down all the findings and issues which needs to be changed.

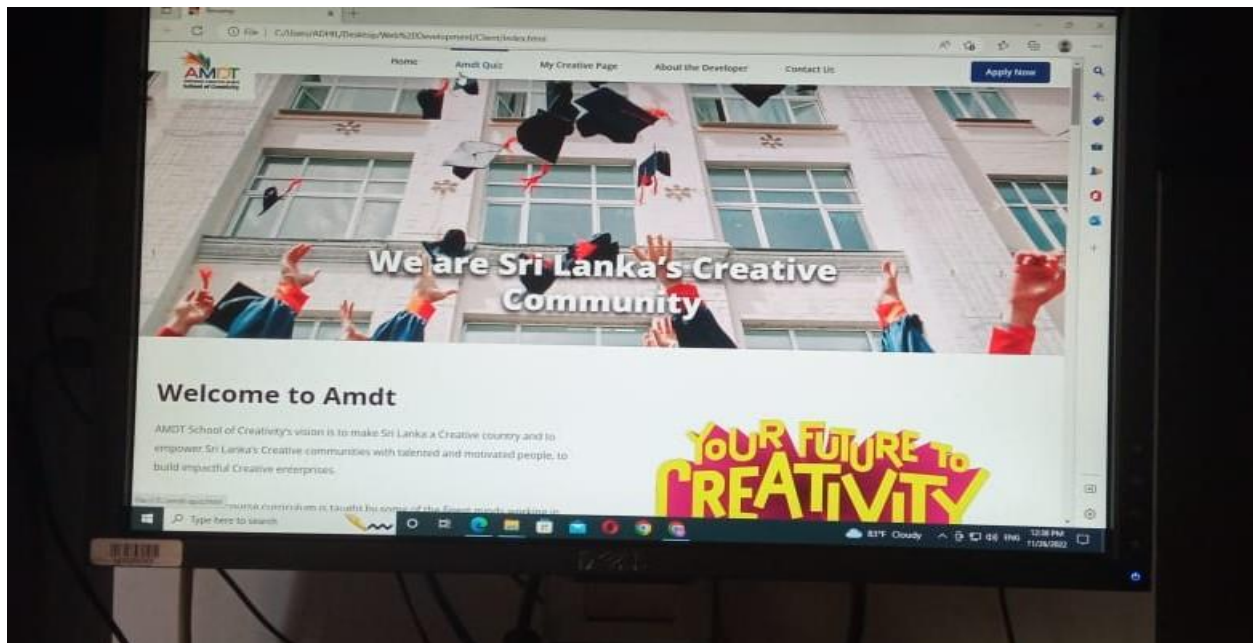

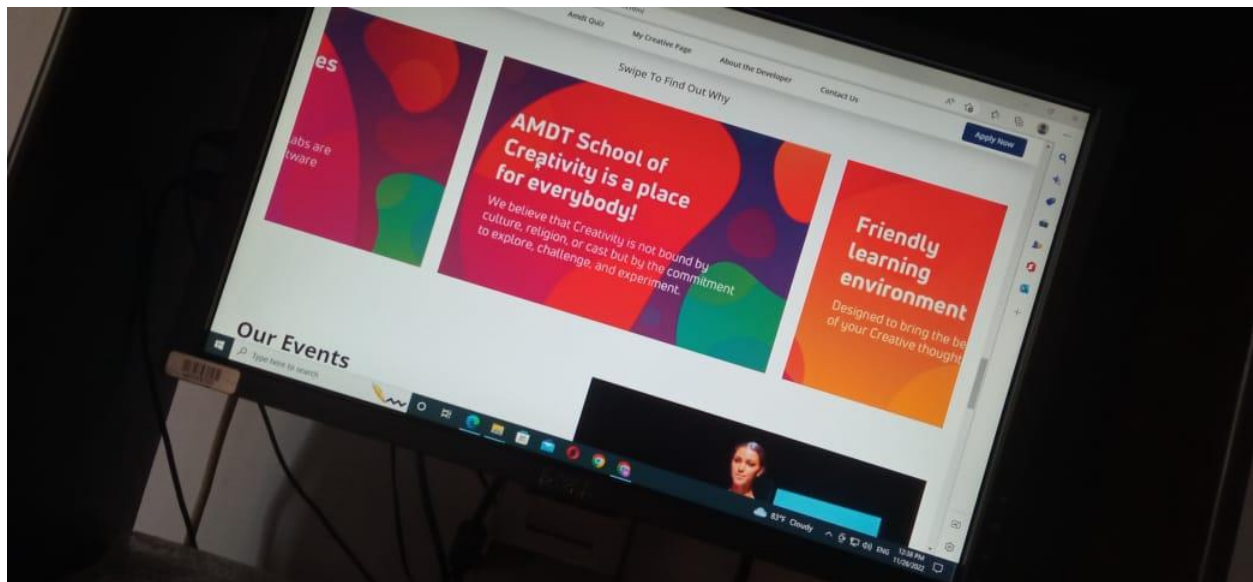

Task 1 - To fill put the quiz form and submit it.

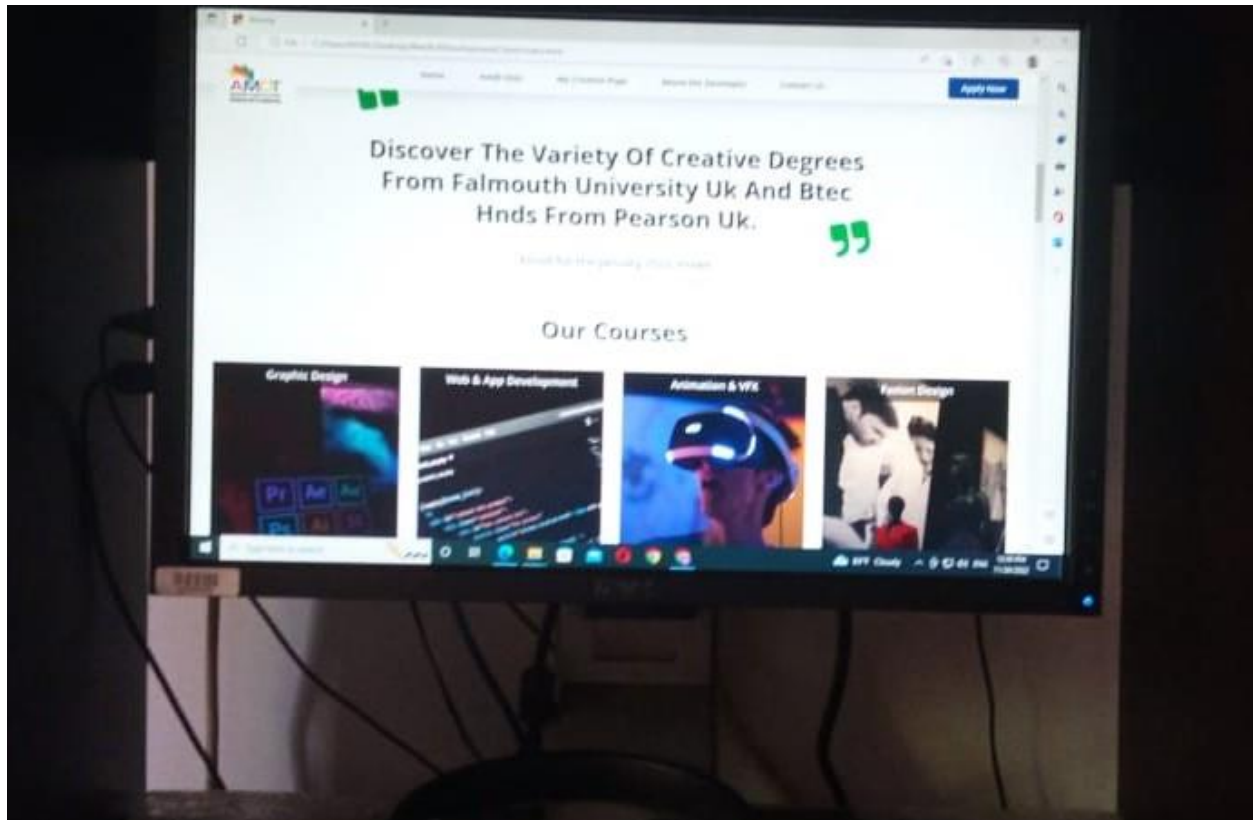

Task 2 - To getting more details about Courses

User 1

User 2

Key Findings

- Prefer new site more than the existing one in terms of white space and content structure
- 1-2 minutes. was the average time spent per task by participants.
- Users prefer navigation bar with search option rather than just a navigation bar.
- All the two 2 users successfully completed their tasks.

The Good

- Button animations
- Image hover effects
- Reduce the white space that the existing one
- Appears to be well organized generally

The Bad

- Lack of animation effects
- Still too many texts
- Navigation and footer loaded after the page appears

Functional Issues

- Appears red color in the contact form even after submitted the form
- Counter feature doesn't work as it is
